New Kitty Technology Lets You Play With Real Cats Over the Web

Sarah Jacobsson Pureval, PCWorld Oct 8, 2010 4:11 pm

Forget LOLcats, these kitties are real—and you can interact with them in real-time! Apriori Control, in conjunction with the Idaho Humane Society and the Oregon Humane Society, has developed a website where you can interact with real cats by controlling robotic toys over the internet.

Apriori Control, a data protocol transfer company, created iPet Companion to help people connect with animals at Humane Societies shelters via robotic control. The application—which requires a one-time download—is free to use.
